

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY, MARCH 28, 1896

There will be a special meeting of the vestry of Grace church to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Hon. J. K. Kelly, Hon. Sydney Dell and Hon. A. N. Nollner are before the public. This is a very pretty quarrel as it stands.

The pilot schooner goes to sea to-day, the pilots having made arrangements to that effect. Pilot Dole goes as master.

W. S. Ladd is having a well dug at East Portland that is now 1,400 feet deep; looks like a long way to go for water in this country.

By request Rev. A. J. Joslyn will hold divine services at 4 o'clock this afternoon, on board the Amphitrite lying at the Main street wharf.

Note Cooper's new advt. His stock is large, his prices low, his clerks accommodating and his selections suited to his customers' requirements.

Tide tables, A1 style: tide table on one side; your business card on the other; assorted; April, May, June and July; at THE ASTORIAN job office; bottom figures.

It is thought that the old eastern rates will be established on the 1st. It is hardly probable, however, that the figures will ever again be as steep as they used to be.

The Tressa May is ashore at Newport, Yaquina bay. Such large steamers as the Tressa May occasionally find difficulty in securing sufficient draught. The Tressa May draws over three feet.

Already nominations for various offices are being fixed up and divided to apparent mutual satisfaction. That kind of business didn't work two years ago and it won't work now. The primaries of the county conventions are the places to do the nominating—that is if the election of those mentioned is really desired.

Not in the previous history of the business has there been such extensive preparation for coming operations as that now being made for the coming season's work on the lower Columbia. To some it looks as though the preparations were on too extensive a scale in some instances, but time alone can solve the problem.

The Philadelphia Times celebrates its eleventh birthday by issuing a twenty-page edition. It is an immense affair, every way, and if called suddenly for some exponent of the spirit and progress of the age, one couldn't do better than show just such a big, bustling newspaper, crammed full of news and facts and the very essence of the day in its manifold columns.

Ever since the Alaskan came dot, Horn around and her dripping paddle wheels stopped revolving at Portland, the newspapers have been assigning a route for that vessel. One time it is to Alaska, then to Gray's harbor, then to Astoria, more often to Ilwaco, occasionally on the Sound. The Tacoma Ledger hears that she will run from that city to Victoria. Maybe so.

The Date of the Tournament.

The meeting of the board of directors of the Oregon State Firemen's association was held at the St. Charles hotel yesterday morning at eleven o'clock it having been postponed to enable a full board to be present.

Ben Worsley telegraphed to THE ASTORIAN last night that the time set for holding the tournament was the eighth, ninth, and tenth of next September, which comes about right for the Astoria fire department.

Sunday School Concert.

This evening there will be a quarterly review and Sunday school concert at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. Garner will deliver a short address on parental responsibility. The exercises will consist chiefly of a selection of choice hymns sung by the children, assisted by the choir. Miss Nellie Flavel, organist; Mr. Geo. H. Stewart, chorister. The public is cordially invited to this interesting service.

Mrs. Alsey Fox returned Thursday evening from a tour of eastern Oregon and Washington territory, but will leave to-day for Astoria, to remain permanently with her sons. A large circle of friends in east and west Portland regret "Auntie's" departure, as she has always been a good counselor and cherished friend to all with whom she came in contact.—Oregonian, 27.

Griffin & Reed have no need of clearance and auction sales; strictly business and fair dealing to their patrons solves the problem.

Catsup Cheese
Ten cents a pound. You take one pound or a hundred at the same rate, at Carnahan & Co's.

Griffin & Reed are taking advantage of the low rates and have a large invoice of goods on the way from the east.

The latest novels in Munroe's, Lovell's and the Seaside Libraries received as soon as published at the City Book Store.

The last musical instrument, a fine Estey Organ, worth $175 can be bought for $100 cash, at the Crystal Palace. First come first served.

Bone Meal
In quantities to suit at 1 cent per pound at Carnahan & Co's.

Cannermen and Storekeepers will do well to lay in a stock of Blank Books and Stationery before the stock runs out at the Crystal Palace. At the price that stock is being sold it cannot last very long.

FLASHED ACROSS THE LAND.

Precautionary Peace Measures in St. Louis.

THE DAILY STRIKE: AT PITTSBURGH THIS TIME.

Interesting Items of News Telegraphed From All Parts of the World.

St. Louis, March 27.—Chairman Irons, of the executive committee of District Assembly No. 101, K. of L., when shown the statements of Powderly and Turner telegraphed from New York and Philadelphia, said: "It is not necessary for me to give any authority for anything that I have said. We don't have to be guided by what Powderly says. The general committee has no power here; it cannot come here and settle this trouble unless we make a request." Turner's statement in which he declares that Irons is one of the men who is doing the order a great injury being shown him, he said, "I have nothing to say about that. I will not be drawn into any controversy with Powderly or Turner; they have no right to denounce me in this manner." "But you made the statement they complained of." "What I said," replied Irons, "was, if the strike was not settled it might extend over all the roads in the country. I will tell you more than I said, and that is that it may extend among all the Knights of Labor all over the country."

TWO REGIMENTS OF SOLDIERS FOR ST. LOUIS.

In addition to the dispatch from Pittsburgh received last night to the effect that a company of U. S. infantry passed through the city en route from New York city, news was received this morning that twenty companies of soldiers had left Columbus, Ohio, destined for St. Louis. It is understood at Columbus that the detachment will be placed in a position to afford protection to railroad interests in east St. Louis, if their services should become necessary. The action is taken as a precautionary measure based on information that destruction of property has been threatened. The mayor of that city has already been called upon to furnish protection for the property of the railroad company, but has signified his inability to do so, six men being all that he had at his disposal. The county authorities will be applied to to-day; if necessary the governor of Illinois will be asked for protection for the company's property in his state.

THE BROOKLYN STRIKE.

New York, Mar. 27.—The strike of the drivers and conductors on the Brooklyn railway still continues. Neither side has shown any disposition to yield. The police are guarding the stables and offices of the company.

A STRIKE IN PITTSBURGH.

Pittsburgh, Mar. 27.—This morning the street-car conductors and drivers of all lines about the city except the Citizens' Transverse and Second Avenue lines, went out on a strike. At a conference last night between the officials of eleven other companies in this city and district Master Workman Evans no agreement was reached and the district master issued an order to all the men not to take out any cars this morning. So far the companies have not attempted to run any cars. Everything is quiet.

PRICE OF SUGAR IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Mar. 27.—A leading sugar merchant says, yesterday two car loads of refined sugar from San Francisco sold in Chicago at one-fourth of a cent per pound less than the price for sugar of New York grades. This firm received a telegram from Spreckels' refinery offering their granulated sugar for six cents in San Francisco, and guaranteed the freight to Chicago at three-eighths of a cent to New York. Granulated sugar then selling in Chicago at six and five-eighths of a cent was thus enabled to sell a quarter of a cent below the price of the New York refiners. At these prices for California sugar only two cars arrived.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

Wheat quiet, cash 81½; corn easy, 35½; cash, 38½; May, 39½; cash, 31; May, 31½; pork easy $9.62½; cash, $9.70; May, 9.75; cash, $5.75; May, $6.

FAILURE OF A FRENCH BANK.

Calais, Mar. 27.—The Delvots bank has suspended. The liabilities are $500,000.

TERRIBLE IF TRUE.

London, March 27.—It is stated this afternoon that Jos. Chamberlain, president of the local Scotland government board and Sir Arthur Trevelyan, secretary for Scotland, have resigned and that the queen has accepted the resignations.

SECRETARY MANNING'S CONDITION.

Washington, Mar. 27.—Secretary Manning's condition is unchanged. "He is not out of danger," said Dr. Lincoln to-day, "and will not be for some time yet, but we feel encouraged as time goes by."

WON BY PRINCE RUDOLPH.

London, Mar. 27.—The race for the Liverpool spring cup was won by Prince Rudolph.

THE OREGON CENTRAL RAILWAY.

Portland, Mar. 27.—Yesterday articles filed in the office of the secretary state, incorporating "the Oregon Central Railway company." The object of the concern is the construction and equipment of a railroad and telegraph line from Coos bay near Empire City, thence via Roseburg, in Douglas county, to a point on the Oregon Short Line near where the latter crosses the eastern boundary of Oregon. The principal office of the corporation will be at Empire City. The capital stock is placed at $12,500,000 in shares of $500 each. It is supposed the main object is to make a survey east from Roseburg to the Oregon Short Line.

AN UNUSUAL SUIT.

This afternoon papers were filed in county clerk's office, of Multnomah county, in a suit of an unusual kind under the title of J. R. E. Selby, against the city of Portland. This civil action is brought to recover money from the city to the amount sued for, which is $15,600. It is claimed in the complaint that plaintiff was formerly a policeman, but was discharged without cause and no reason. He claims the city is owing him up to date and for valuable consideration he purchased the claims of others in the same circumstances, the names of whom are J. H. Lappeus, formerly chief of police, T. P. Luther, D. W. Dobbins, A. H. Johnson, and J. E. Cramer.

MR. HOOD ATTRACTS ATTENTION.

What appeared to be a large volume of smoke issuing from the top of Mt. Hood has caused great excitement here to-day.

How the Canadian Pacific Terminus Looked to a Seattleite.

Sherman Heek returned from Coal harbor to day, by way of Victoria, and just as he landed from the Starr was struck by a Call reporter for his experience. "Damned place I ever saw," he said, by way of commencement; "no money there; board, $7 per week; wages, $2 per day for slaving, and you can't get your money at all, works are now closed down; rained, snowed and hailed all last week there; town full of stumps and shanties and no prospect of an improvement soon."

"Is there no business there?" said the reporter, as he got a chance to get in a word. "Not a bit! Six hotels are waiting for a chance to start up, and 600 men are waiting for something to do. Clayton Bros., of this city, are about to open a hotel there, and two former Seattleites have rented a 12x28 building at $40 per month to start a coffee house. That is what the business amounts to, and the best thing the working men can do is to stay away from there."

"How about property?" "Well, that's a terror. If you had a flour sack full of twenties and wanted a corner lot, you would have to give up the twenties and fish for more coin to put up a house. I have come home to stay."—Seattle Call.

Some Get Along that Way.

We understand the new schooner now on the stocks at North Bend will be launched sometime this week. This schooner will be rather an odd looking vessel from all accounts. She will have four masts, no topmasts, no bowsprit or jib-boom. The absence of these features will render her general make up widely different from the orthodox craft that now plows the seas. We are not much of a sailor, and consequently are not prepared to express an opinion about the sea-going qualities of such an eccentricity in the shipbuilding line, but we should think it would wonderfully detract from the beauty of a vessel to have no head or tail pieces. However, she may get along without them. Some people do.—Coast Mail.

Where the Vagabonds Come From.

A boy who said his name was John O'Brien was fined $25 for begging on the streets. He asked leave to go to Astoria, and his wish may be gratified. W. W. Wilson, a vag, likewise requested to be allowed to go down to the sounding sea. First he said he wanted to be a bold, brave fisherman, and a moment later forgot himself, and said he had an engagement on a ship bound for Liverpool. Judge Dement remarked, "Wilson, I will fine you $25, and you will be let out in time to catch the morning boat. If you don't catch the boat the police will catch you before night and bring you back."—Oregonian's Police Court Report.

Just so; and when such fellows as Portland is shipping down here are pulled in, the Oregonian will hold up both hands in holy horror and wonder what dreadful creatures are found at large in Astoria, and where can they have possibly come from.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any Drug Store as is now at W. E. Dement & Co's for a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. JOB WORK TOO.

Last Thursday's ASTORIAN quoted prices of advertising in some 70 newspapers, showing that our figures were the cheapest of any in the country.

Not only in advertising are THE ASTORIAN'S prices "way down." In job work, too, the same rule prevails. Just for instance. There was a job finished yesterday in this office for Seaside Lodge No. 12, A. O. U. W., of this city. It was an order received from that Lodge for 300—three hundred—copies of the constitution, by laws, laws of general application, etc. In the work are 72,000 ems. The composition of 72,000 ems, the press work, the paper, the stitching and binding and the whole work of making these 300 copies, done in THE ASTORIAN office costs the Lodge—how much do you think? Just $25.50. Now any printer knows that if this job was done in a Portland printing office it would cost Seaside Lodge at least $45.

Some time ago Beaver Lodge No. 35, I. O. O. F., of this city, wanted similar work done. THE ASTORIAN bid against three Portland printers, got the job because its bid was the lowest, and did it in first-class shape. Now we don't ask for job work. Send your coin away if you want to. But don't have it as an excuse that you can't get work done in Astoria just as good and just as cheap. Because you can; as a matter of fact you can save money by getting your job printing done at home.

There is no sympathy nor sentiment about this thing. It's cold business. Seaside Lodge isn't so enamored of us that it would squander its members' money on a job such as we have just furnished for them. But like thrifty, economical folks as they are they keep the money at home and instead of sending $45 or $50 to Portland, they get the work done just as good in THE ASTORIAN office for $25.50.

MILWAUKEE LAGER BEER.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 20.—The disciples of the school of total abstinence may perhaps take some comfort by perusing the following table of statistics, from which it appears that the aggregate amount of beer sold by the Milwaukee brewers during the year 1895 shows a considerable falling off as compared with the sales of the next preceding year.

It will be noticed, however, that the old renowned Phillip Best Brewing Company has to record a gain, and is still maintaining its proud prestige of being at the head of the column, while the sales of its principal competitor show a marked decrease.

The figures are vouched for as correct in every respect:

Bev.	1894.	1895.	Inc/Dec.	1895.
Ph. Best Brew.	378,320	345,235	6,715	.....

He Was Much Obligated.

A lady who boards in the United States hotel at Litchfield, Conn., was annoyed by the slamming of a window shutter the other night. Finally, with much trouble, she located the room, entered, raised the window, fastened the shutter, and was horrified when the calm voice of a Boston drummer in the bed said: "Thank you, ma'am."

DISTRIBUTIVE CO-OPERATION.

Probably just the state of things which was the rule in manufactures years ago, could not now be found. Time was when the manufacturer had everything his own way. For example, in some valley where water power was running to waste, a mill was started. The owners called together the young, the poor, those in temporary need of winning means for the carrying on of other operations, and out of them organized a community for the manufacture, say, of woollens.

The owners built cheap houses, which were rented to operatives, or boarding-houses, of which the profits came to the company. They paid low wages, and, to make sure that they were well spent, they opened a store in which were kept and sold everything the operative could need. The operative kept a "pass-book," and the company kept the accounts. Whatever he, she, or they of the family earned was credited; and whatever he, she, or they spent at the factory was charged.

The thrifty and the prudent carefully watched the income and expenditure. But the tired, the careless, and the thriftless could not properly match income to outgo. The prudent made some savings, which the company paid; and a snug farm or mechanic's shop was the goal attained after some months or a few years of self-denial. But, to the imprudent, no such release came. A little debt, not too large to be tempting, but large enough to ensnare the unwary, kept them the slaves of the company.

Upon all classes, both the wary and the unwary, the company levied its tax and collected its profit. Whether the principal business paid a profit or not, it still was profitable to the purveyor of all the necessities of life to those who must buy and for whose trade there was no competitor.

That was the good old way for which many sometimes long. Since that day, labor has been coming to a consciousness of itself, of its place and power in the community. With many and vigorous efforts, often misdirected, it is slowly clearing for itself a new standing ground. Chief among the attempts to make itself independent of the employer of labor and to increase the purchasing power of wages is the experiment of co-operation. Often tried and often a failure, it still grows in favor; and, as the preliminary blunders enlighten those who are interested, both the problem and the method of solution grow more plain.

No experiment of the kind has succeeded in which were not concerned some few or many managers and agents who were not only honest and capable, but who had a zeal for the common good. There must be some who have the sentiment of benevolence and a strong desire to serve their fellows by teaching them the way of a better common use of their advantages. Some "enthusiasm for humanity" must get itself infused into such attempts, or they fail.

Perhaps even better than these is the lesson of common responsibility for the common good,—a lesson not yet learned, spite of all the sharp lessons taught by directors who do not manage. They who by co-operation would thrive must contribute to the common stock, honesty, enthusiasm, unselfishness, and vigilance. Now, any experiment which shall increase the estimation of these qualities and bring them into common use will assist in the elevation of the whole class who practice them.

Communism in the destructive forms will never get much beyond the early stages. It is a blossom infected in the bud, and sure to be blasted before it is blown. But the communism which simply encourages mutual helpfulness, mutual dependence, and simple honesty as the basis of prosperity is yet to flower into many and beautiful forms of life.
